Ex-SM Mayor Reports Burglary

What were termed by police as "amateurs" escaped with an estimated $1500 worth of jewelry, clothing and silverware over the weekend from the home of Claude J. Hirschey, one-time mayor of San Mateo, who lives at 201 Harvard Rd.

Knights of Columbus Council Launches Drive on Peninsula to Clean Up Comic Books

The San Mateo Council of the Knights of Columbus was host to almost 125 delegates representing 41 Catholic societies of San Mateo County, at a joint meeting in San Mateo last night.

The meeting was called to sponsor a program of Catholic Action, in an effort to halt the sale of objectionable comics, now offered for sale in the county.

Guido A. Simoni, grand knight of the KC., called the meeting to order and welcomed the delegates. He introduced Dr. H. I.

Gallagher, of South San Mateo, who as chairman of the KC Catholic Activities Program Committee, had studied the situation over the past four weeks.

Dr. Gallagher's committee had combed the Peninsula and found over 200 different comics on display, of which, 32 were found to be completely objectionable, and over 50, objectionable in part. The balance was unclassified. The committee used as a guide the six-point code recommended by the National Organization for Decent Literature, which considers objectionable comics if they (1) glorify or condone reprehensible characters or culpable acts; (2) contain material which is offensively "sexy;" (3) introduce gruesome scenes of bloodshed, mangled bodies and the like; (4) present scenes of cruel or unusual torture in a manner to incite sadism; (5) carry advertisements of products or objects which tend to contribute to juvenile delinquency; or (6) are marked by, or tend to create disrespect for law and law enforcement officers.

Donald T. Splain of Burlingame, director of publicity for the KC, who originally proposed the action was elected chairman of the group. He will be assisted by Mrs. Joseph Britschgi of Redwood City who will serve as co-chairman. A steering committee was appointed, composed of delegates from every city from Colma and Daly City to Redwood City. This committee will act as a liaison between the Catholic societies in each section and the KC. Because so many societies especially the mothers' clubs and PTA's will not meet until the end of September, the work of the group will not swing into full force until that time.

Meanwhile, the group resolved to follow a five-point program which includes: (1) The full membership of each society will be contacted to take an active part in the program, and kept informed of the work of the mittes as the program advances, being urged to examine and dispose of any objectionable comics that might be in the hands of their own children; (2) to visit the dealers in their communities, to solicit their aid, in an attempt to have them voluntarily remove from their displays objectionable comics; (3) write letters supporting the program of Dr. Richmond Barbour, Tribune columnist, who has been waging a campaign of his own against this type of literature, through his widely read column; (4) organize and maintain local boycotts against the dealers who continue to display objectionable magazines and (5) contact the local school authorities in an effort to secure a list of approved comics, to fill the void left by the removal of those banned.

Coastside Beach Cleanup Asked

County officials today were asked to clean up two Coastside beaches which were described as in "disgraceful" condition.

The request was made by William M. Wilson, president of the Pillar Point Improvement Assn., in a letter to the board of supervisors, the planning commission and the recreation commission.

Dunes Beach and Miramar Beach, Wilson wrote, are littered with rubbish and refuse. There are no sanitary conveniences at Miramar Beach, and the ones at Dunes are "disgraceful," he

400 Acres Burned As Blaze Continues

Fire raged on two fronts in the Big Basin Redwoods Park area Wednesday. Ernie Werder, San Mateo County deputy fire warden, who has been flying over Big Basin said the blaze was in regions too steep for mechanical fighting equipment and would have to be battled by ground forces.

Earlier, Les Gum, ranger at the Felton Forest station, reported the blaze was partly under control, but had destroyed over 400 acres of scrub oak and brush.

More than 200 men were fighting the spreading fire at mid-day, and more were being recruited.

Center of the fire was the Pine Mountain area in Big Basin Redwoods Park near Waddell Creek.

The Dennison saw mill was in the path of the blaze, it was reported. There were no reports of other property in danger.

Spotter from Santa Clara and San Bernardino Counties were flying over the blaze.

Evacuation of campers was started at 1 a.m. and the park was closed.

Origin of the fire was not determined.

Fire fighters were recruited from San Mateo, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz Counties, a California Youth Authority camp, and the Boulder Creek volunteer fire department.

Circus Pays $425 License Fee Two Days After Show Starts

The Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus can finish its four-day run at the Cow Palace now without fear that county officials will invoke terms of a 1936 licensing ordinance.

A license fee of $425 was paid Wednesday, two days after the circus opened.

It was paid by the 1-A District Agricultural Assn., operator of the Cow Palace, under protest, County Tax Collector Ralph MacArthur said.

The district paid the fee, MacArthur declared, because it has a contract with the circus stating that no fee or license would be required.

Before the county collected its $425 cut, officials took the matter to the attorney general. The latter ruled that the fee must be paid.

Carl L. Garrison, executive secretary-treasurer of the agricultural district, said today that there had been no "mixup"—that the circus was operating under a "verbal permit" from MacArthur, pending receipt of a ruling from the attorney general.

MacArthur, however, said that there was no "verbal permit." The circus operated without a permit for two days, he said.

In the background of the controversy was County Executive Frederick Peterson.

According to Garrison, two months ago, when the circus contract was being drawn, he conferred with Peterson about possible permits.

"He said he didn't think one would be necessary, since the agricultural district is a state agency," Garrison said, adding that Peterson wasn't the man to determine it, of course.

The circus opened Monday. MacArthur checked with Peterson that day, was told he would have to get the legal question answered by the district attorney's office. There it was ruled that the circus would pay the license fee.

MacArthur also got a ruling from the attorney general to that effect. He notified Garrison that the license would have to be paid. He collected this morning.

MacArthur said that the problem had not arisen before, since the Ringling circus was the first large one to play in the unincorporated area. Other uses of the Cow Palace, such as basketball games, are not covered by the ordinance.

The ordinance states that a circus having attendance of more than 4000 must pay $100 for the first day and $75 for each succeeding day. Other fees are included for sideshows and aftershows. Maximum penalty provided for violation is $500 fine and six months in jail.

1948 Redwood City Rodeo Shows Record Net Profit

Redwood City's three-day 1948 Fourth of July celebration was an all-time money raising record-breaker.

The fact was disclosed Wednesday in the Peninsula Celebrations Assn. financial statement, prepared by Vice Pres. George Fakhour, which showed that the show has netted $7863.68 with an additional $420 in advertising revenue to be added.

Fakhour pointed out that the gross income from this year's show was $52,593.84, of which $39,724.52 was net income. Total expenses were $31,440.84.

Leading the revenue parade were the concessions operated by member organizations of the Peninsula Celebrations Assn. which grossed $19,935.55. The share retained by the individual clubs was $6977.50 and the remaining $12,958.05 was deposited in the PCA account.

Other revenues included advertising—$7905, rodeo ticket sales—$21,012.93, miscellaneous—$423.51.

Expenses were listed as follows: Rodeo—$15,181.73, general expenses—$16,259.11.

Pres. Alton Cryer, in reporting that the PCA now has a cash balance of $9874.93, explained that $800 has been turned over to the city recreation department, but that the bulk of the money is being retained for the purpose of obtaining a permanent home for the annual event.

Cryer also urged that all of the member organizations assign two members to act as official representatives on the PCA since work is being done now in connection with the operation of next year's event.

The PCA will meet monthly during the fall and winter to lay the groundwork and set the policies for 1949, Cryer pointed out.

RC Will Not Get Left Turn Lanes at Bayshore-Chestnut

Redwood City won't get a center island with storage lanes at the Chestnut St. intersection.

This became definite upon receipt of a letter by the city council from John H. Skeggs, assistant state highway engineer, who declared that because of the small number of left turns at the intersection, the construction would not justify the expenditure to provide this facility.

Provision for storage lanes would involve widening of Bayshore Hwy. for a considerable distance, in order to construct additional outer lanes which would be made necessary by the utilization of the two inner lanes for storage.

The cost of this construction is estimated to be in excess of $75,000, Skeggs stated, "and there are no state highway funds for additional facilities at this location."

"In the event that funds should be available at some future date, and assuming a 50 per cent participation in the cost of providing for the center island and storage centers by the City of Redwood City, this expenditure would appear economically unjustified for a considerable period in view of the small number of left turn movements shown by our traffic department surveys," Skeggs stated.

The city council at Monday night's meeting accepted the state's recommendation.

Plans are going forth, however, for traffic signals at the intersection. Funds for the project already have been allocated.

Picks Fight With Police, Jailed on Four Charges

Wallace Ward Stutzman, 27-year-old electrician, 2124 Forest Ave., Belmont, early Sunday was arrested by police on charges of assault and battery, drunk driving, resisting arrest, and speeding.

Stutzman was charged with assault and battery when he struck Belmont Police Chief O. Walter Lindholm and Sgt. James Moore, and then kicked Lindholm in the groin after the officers spotted him for speeding on Ralston Ave.

Officers said that Stutzman was driving west on Ralston at about 60 miles an hour at 2:10 a.m. Police stopped him for investigation after his car almost ran a passing motorist into a ditch at Cipriani Ave., they reported.

Stutzman swore at the officers and was abusive before he started fighting, police said, and after he was overpowered and handcuffed he continued to struggle in the police car which was taking him from Belmont to county jail.

Western Rodeo Entries Listed

Dr. Ray E. Harris, general chairman of the Western Championship Rodeo which gets under way for a three-day run at Bay Meadows Saturday, Monday released the following partial list of cowboy performers who will make daily appearances during the big Labor Day wild livestock show.

They will compete for thousands of dollars in stake prizes offered by the San Mateo County Mounted Sheriff's Possee, sponsors of the event.

Ex-Chairman Quits So. County IPP Group

Robert W. Burns, recent chairman of the South San Mateo Club of the Independent Progressive Party, Monday said that he has disaffiliated with that organization.

Coming upon the heels of the recent resignations of 12 other IPPers, Burns backed the original charges which prompted the earlier mass resignation.

Burns, who resides at 124 Lincoln Ave., was also an elected member of the County Central Committee of the Progressive Party. While he did not substantiate these earlier charges, Burns approved those accusations in a letter to his newly elected successor, William Dugan, in which Burns declared:

"... it would be to the distinct advantage to the Progressive Party... should I resign."

While stressing the fact that he was dissatisfied with the Wallace group, but still intended to vote for Wallace, he said that the IPP "... is not now what it was originally designed to be."

He further emphasized the fact that he did not intend his resignation to be construed as an endorsement of either the Republican or Democratic Parties.

Two RC Men Honored By Standard Oil Co.

In recognition of their continuous employment with Standard of California, two Redwood City men have been presented with gold service pins, the company announced today.

They are Louis Rossi with 10 years of service and Herbert Winter with 10 years of service.

The local men were among the 108 employees receiving pins awards this month.

Granger Raps Collins Stand On Gambling

A verbal wrist slapping has been given to Police Chief C. L. (Mickey) Collins by Councilman Floyd D. Granger for a statement attributed to Collins on the operation of so-called amusement machines in Redwood City.

Collins had stated after the Tribune published a list of 64 places which paid $100 federal fees for the "right" to pay off on pinball machines, that the Redwood City government licenses such machines for "amusement only" and that they are used for purposes other than "amusement only," it is up to the city council to take action.

The council Monday night instructed City Atty. Cuthbert B. Currie to state whose responsibility it is.

Currie's statement was brief. "The responsibility for enforcement of ordinances rests with the police department," he said.

City Mgr. Ernest A. Rolison told the councilmen that one way to make sure the machines were not used for gambling purposes was to "throw them out." He said later, however, that he was not advocating such a move.

Mayor William M. Werder protested that if the machines were abolished it would deprive the city of fees derived from them.

The city now collects $12 a year fee on each amusement machine. The council is working on an ordinance which would raise the fee. The proposed amount has varied from $50 to $100.

Councilman Robert Spillers, day's meeting, said Wednesday he agreed with Werder that the city should get revenue from the machines. He opposed letting youngsters play the machines, however.

277 Register Here for Draft

A total of 214 men in the 25-year-old class signed up for the peacetime draft here Monday according to C. C. Wyatt, local director of draft registrations.

Wyatt reported that draft signups Tuesday of 24-year-olds had slowed down somewhat with only 63 men appearing before noon, but attributed it to the two-day period allowed for registration of that age group.

Eleven volunteers worked Monday to sign up the men, while eight are working Tuesday. Wyatt said that he still needs some volunteers to fill his schedule for the 17-day registration period.

Registrations will be taken daily except Sundays and Labor Day from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the Sequoia High School Auditorium.

Wyatt pointed out that 24-year-olds sign up today and tomorrow; men 23 years old Thursday and Friday; men 22 Saturday and next Monday, and so on until the 18-year-olds are signed up.

Richard Armstrong Enlists in Army

Richard Armstrong, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Armstrong, has enlisted in the army for a three year period, it was announced this week.

Richard was a member of the 1947 graduating class at Bellarmine High School in San Jose and has completed his first year at Santa Clara University.

According to his parents he plans to continue studying while in the service and return to school at the end of the three-year enlistment.

How About That Parking Tag Saturday Afternoon, Officer?

It was Saturday afternoon and the conversation went something like this:

"Ere now, officer you can't be giving me a ticket for over-parking on Burlingame Ave. not this afternoon you can't."

"Sure, and perhaps you'll be telling me why not, my good man?"

"Because your meters read that you put money in them from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. every day except Sundays and legal holidays."

"That they do."

"Right, and Saturday afternoon is a legal holiday, according to your state statutes, which say Saturday afternoon is a half-holiday during which the transaction of business in public offices throughout the state is suspended."

"Hold up, now, not so fast..."

Ravenswood Seeking Janitors, Drivers

Ravenswood school officials are looking for two men to serve in dual capacities as janitors and bus drivers for the coming school year.

Stanley Schneppe, superintendent of the Ravenswood School District, said Wednesday he hopes to get men as soon as possible so that drivers may learn the bus routes before

One Burglar Arrested; Others Still Operating

A Burlingame carpenter was in the county jail here today after admitting Tuesday afternoon that he had entered the home of David Holder the night before and struck Holder's wife in a getaway attempt, but his arrest did not halt the wave of burglaries in Redwood City.

One house was entered Monday night and the Broadway Cafe was broken into during the dawn hours Tuesday.

Troy W. Lockhart, 29, Burlingame Hotel, admitted yesterday afternoon that he had entered the Holder home at 919 Blandford St. Sunday night and struck Mrs. Holder over the head with a flashlight upon her sudden appearance in the bedroom.

Lockhart, who told Redwood City police that he had served

Five Injured In SM County Accidents

San Mateo County's highways enjoyed a comparative lull during the weekend, as far as serious automobile accidents were concerned—the lull before the anticipated Labor Day storm.

The California Highway Patrol reported just five accidents with five persons injured, and only one of them seriously hurt.

Edwin F. Starkey, 54, of San Francisco suffered major injuries Saturday night when he fell or jumped from a moving automobile on Woodside Rd. near Alameda de las Pulgas, according to the CHP.

He was taken to Community Hospital in a county ambulance. Hospital authorities said his condition Monday was "favorable."

The car in which he was riding was driven by Joseph W. McGarvey, 32, 845 Hamilton St.

Frank Gonzales, 42-year-old janitor of 3555 Hoover St., Redwood City, incurred minor cuts and bruises Monday when his car went over a roadside bank on Half Moon Bay Rd., half a mile east of Half Moon Bay.

The car came to rest on its top about 100 feet from the pavement, the CHP said.

Mrs. Betty Korematsu, 28, of San Francisco was treated Sunday afternoon for knee and foot cuts at Palo Alto Hospital, after she had fallen from her husband's truck on Manhattan Ave., East Palo Alto.

She apparently leaned against the door handle and forced it down, opening the door, according to the husband, Harry T. Korematsu, 31, San Francisco nurseryman.

A 10-month-old San Jose boy, Gregg Allen, suffered head bruises Saturday afternoon in an intersection collision between two cars at the Bayshore Hwy. Dumbarton Ave. corner in East Palo Alto.

The automobiles, according to the CHP, were driven by Henry C. Johnson, 56, of Brigham, Ut., and Charles A. Greely, 72-year-old painter of 118 Pope St., Palo Alto.

Boje R. Albertsen, 60, 1489 Woodland Ave., Palo Alto, was treated early Saturday night at Palo Alto Hospital for cuts and bruises, after his car had swerved off Portola Rd. near Sandhill Rd. and crashed into a tree.

RC Council Gives Go-Ahead On New Building for C of C

Plans for construction of a chamber of commerce building on city-owned property on Mid-field Rd. near Jefferson Ave. were progressing Tuesday after a go-ahead signal was given by the Redwood City City Council Monday night.

The building will be located on the old Robinson property which the city purchased last year.

The city engineer's office was ordered to establish property lines.

E. W. (Ned) Butler, executive vice president of the chamber, said construction of the building will be the culmination of a five-year dream.

The building will be of reinforced concrete with a redwood and glass front. It will be set back on the property and landscaped with redwood trees on either entrance. There will be 2000 square feet of floor space.

An enlarged general office and reception room are planned. There will be a display cabinet on one wall for relics and locally manufactured goods, Butler said.

A large conference room with a seating capacity of 25 to 40, with a separate entrance, will be available to all civic and patriotic groups for committee meetings, day or night.

A small utility office will be available for organizations for temporary use during drives, for industrialists needing a downtown office, for the port commission, and by the chamber as an auxiliary for the better business division.

Third grade—8:30 to 12. Fourth, fifth and sixth grades—9:25 to 3:45. Seventh and eighth grades—8 to 3.

Ravenswood teachers will take "in service training" on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, and will set up equipment and receive final briefing on Friday, Sept. 10.

City Delays Kensington Street Work

Residents of South Kensington Square will have to wait until next Spring before an improvement program can be put into effect.

The Redwood City City Council, recalling the difficulty encountered in improving Hudson St. last Winter, Monday night decided to wait until after the winter rains to undertake the improvement program in the newly annexed section.

However, the council ordered City Engineer Glenn Jain to get the necessary plans and specifications for the project ready so that a contract can be let by the first of next year.

It is estimated the project will cost $280,500, exclusive of the water system. Jain said there would be about $14,000 worth of private engineering.

A group of residents in the Eagle Hill Addition also was told it would have to wait until next Spring to have alleys paved.

Although only five of the 12 blocks in the area have petitioned for alley improvements, plans and specifications will be drawn up covering all 12 alleys. City Atty. Cuthbert B. Currie told the council that the others could be deleted if necessary.

Paul E. Lowe, spokesman for the group, asked that if there is any surplus gravel from the creek beds that are being cleaned that it be placed on the alleys as a temporary relief measure.

Sequoia Officials Draw Plans For Opening of Fall Semester

Nearly all plans for the opening of school on Sept. 13 have been completed, Supt. Clyde Ogden of Sequoia High School announced Tuesday.

Ogden also announced that a special teacher's institute for members of the Sequoia High School faculty has been scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 11.

A program is being worked out for the institute which will take up Sequoia problems, Ogden said. He added that a general session will be held in the morning, followed by departmental meetings in the afternoon. Principal Thor Krogh and Curriculum Director Earl Peckham are making arrangements for the afternoon programs.

Transfers to Sequoia are to be registered at the school on Sept. 8. Ogden said that all students who have moved into the Sequoia district since the close of school are to sign up on that date and have their programs made out.

On the opening day of school, Sept. 13, a half-day session will be held. Students will receive cards showing which classes in which they are registered and are then to go to each class for a short period.

Ogden said that textbooks will be given out in all classes on the first day of school so that teachers can start right out giving homework assignments. He said that this procedure is different than in the past, and that the school does not plan to take four or five days to get organized this year.

Changes from the social living courses, recently abandoned by the board of trustees to straight

4 Counts Cost Motorist $500

Wallace W. Stutzman, 27-year-old telephone company electrician Tuesday was fined $500 and given two years probation by Belmont Police Judge Gus Rizzo on charges of drunken driving, assault and battery, resisting arrest, and speeding.

Stutzman was arrested in Belmont early Sunday morning, police reported, after he nearly forced another car off the road, used abusive language and struck officers who stopped him for speeding. He was held on $1000 bail.

Judge Rizzo reported that Stutzman's attorney pleaded that his client not be given a jail sentence because of his wife and child. Rizzo said Stutzman had a good service record.

Police reported that Stutzman served five days in jail in 1943 on a drunk driving charge in San Mateo and 90 days in county jail in 1943 on a hit-run driving charge.

Pilot Fined $150 For Drunken Driving

Philip A. Holmes, 31-year-old San Bruno airlines pilot, today was found guilty on drunk driving charges by Judge Gus Rizzo. Holmes was fined $150 and his driver's license was suspended.

Holmes was arrested on Aug. 24 while driving north on El Camino Real in Belmont.
